Evaluation of Performance

Improved Instruction Is Aim of Two-year Project

Now on paper and according to actual recent history this young lady was a beautiful bride when she married Ben Dann, but in her outfit displayed at the recent Lionette Charter Night program Ruth Dann and the applauding crowd weren't too sure but what some amateur had put her together for this appearance.

For her part in the recent show put on by Vulcan Lionettes at their Charter Night Helen Giles tried to re-live her high school days and the night of her first dance and party dress. The crowd got the idea of the party dress alright, but from the trouble she had with her footwear they also got the feeling this was her first trip in shoes... high heels, that is.

Ten million dollars of the nearly fourteen million dollars taken in during the last Irish Sweepstakes came from the United States.

Life is like a mirror; it never reflects more than we put into it.

During the week of March 16-20 the elementary and junior high school classrooms of the County were visited by teams of supervisors from neighboring school administrations. Seventeen superintendents, assistant superintendents and principals joined with the staff of the County in the culmination of a two-year project designed to improve instruction in the County classrooms.

In the fall of 1962 the teachers of Grades One to Nine in the County of Vulcan initiated a project designed to improve the educational opportunities for the children in their classes. This type of project is known in the profession as a "Self Evaluation Project." It followed this pattern. The teachers working in groups drew up sets of criteria in particular subjects and aspects of education which they felt should be met in order to provide the best possible opportunity for learning. Following these criteria which were set down in what is called an "Instrument" the teachers evaluated their own performances together with the physical aspects of the school situation. This evaluation of performance and facilities was designed to determine if all is being done that should be done to provide children with the best in education opportunity. To give the project a sense of urgency as well as to obtain the value of outside opinion the teachers invited a number of principals, supervisors and superintendents from neighboring systems to visit their classrooms, examine their instruments and discuss their work being done.

During the past week, March 16 to 20, this external visitation took place. On Monday, March 16, principals, supervisors and superintendents from the Counties of Newell, Wheatland and Lethbridge and the Foothills, Taber and Macleod School Divisions met with the teachers and administrators of the County. Team leaders were L. Stewart, Claresholm; Dr. J. Church, Brooks; M. Holman, Strathmore; L. Harding, Taber; S. Hooper, Lethbridge, and S. Simonson, High River. The program for the week was outlined and arrangements made for each of the County classrooms to be visited for half of one day by one of the members of the visiting team. On Tuesday and Wednesday all the elementary and junior high school classes in the County were visited. Following each visit a short conference was held involving the teachers and the visitor. When all the rooms of a school had been visited a meeting was held with the staff and the visiting team. On Thursday morning the leaders of the visiting teams gathered in the County office, discussed the strengths and weaknesses they had observed and prepared to meet the principals of the county schools Thursday afternoon and the members of the County Council Friday morning. At these meetings the observations made by the visitors were discussed. Written reports of the observations made at each school will be prepared and sent to the staff of each school. These reports together with the teachers' own observations will provide the material for further staff meetings designed to devise ways and means of implementing any changes which might be considered desirable. An overall report will be given to the County School Committee and this will be considered as the members discuss policy.

This type of project initiated by the teachers should not be confused with the traditional inspection of schools carried out by provincial inspectors. This was a program carried out by the teachers with the co-operation of the County School Committee, educational authorities in the neighboring areas and the Chief Superintendent of Schools. All those concerned with the pro-

In Foothills Health Unit

Proportion Elderly Persons Is High, Report Indicates

The annual report of the Foothills Health Unit showed that there was a total population of 23,164 in the area of 3,800 square miles covered by the unit. Figures in the report show that 40 per cent of the deaths in the area were due to diseases of the heart and circulation and the maximum incidence of deaths occurred in the 75 to 79-year group. The figures also indicate that the age structure of the population in the unit is not typical of Alberta as a whole and that there is a high proportion of elderly people in it.

Deaths in the unit during the year numbered 205, births 418 and five still births. Seven more boys than girls were born and there were three sets of twins.

No new cases of tuberculosis were reported during the year. One case of diphtheria occurred in a schoolboy in March. He had been partly immunized and the case was mild, but three carriers of virulent gravis organisms were discovered in his school class.

Two feedings of oral Sabin took place in the first quarter, school children being fed at school while 16 special clinics were held to administer vaccine to adults and pre-school children.

Records Up to Date

The report of the Medical Officer of Health, Dr. A. C. Ellis, included the information that school health services went well throughout the year and a tremendous amount of work was done by the nursing staff in bringing records up to date. They had carried out 2479 examinations at the schools in 383 visits.

As in previous years, dental caries accounted for the largest number of defects found, with defects in visual acuity running second. Altogether 177 well-baby clinics were held during the year at 16 different centres. Although there was an increase in attendance as more pre-schoolers and adults made use of the clinics, there were fewer infants attending due to the decreasing birth rate in the unit.

The Drive-in unit in Nanton topped the list in the sanitation report for excellent food and service.

ject indicated their satisfaction with the spirit of self criticism which was evident.

ultra sanitary premises and neat, clean surroundings.

Altogether 1,200 inspections of premises for sanitation were made in the year.

Out of 122 samples of milk, 25 were unsatisfactory.

Water

Samples of water numbering 460 were examined in the laboratory for bacteria and 170 for chemical content.

The village of Champion experienced an acute water shortage and although two wells were tried to supplement the supply, the water from them has unsuitable chemical qualities. Arrangements were made for a satisfactory drinking water supply. The town of Vulcan installed a new water system from the Little Bow river and automatic chlorination ensures a safe supply. The hamlet of Mossleigh has installed a piped water system for residents.

Housing continues to be a problem in some areas. Six dwellings were placarded as unfit for occupation. Most owners fail to make necessary improvements and units deteriorate further. The report states that effective bylaw and control by local governments should be established to either have these units properly repaired or else demolished and the properties cleaned up.

Health Hazards

The improper disposal of household garbage in some places creates a health hazard. The fly (control) problem is closely associated with waste disposal and the report states that the use of insecticides, pesticides, herbicides, etc., is becoming an ever-increasing menace to human, animal and plant life—more especially where poisons are used indiscriminately.

Influential Writers

In Scotland, lawyers generally are called writers, says the Encyclopedia Americana and from an early period in the country's history, the Writers to the Signet has been an important influence in the Scottish legal profession. At one time, this society controlled admissions to the Bar in Scotland. Their former monopoly has been taken away by recent statutes, but the Writers to the Signet still retain a certain prestige among barristers.

Call Tenders This Month

Highway Entrance Improved This Spring

Word has been received from Ray Speaker, MLA for Little Bow, that the Vulcan highway junction at the entrance to town will definitely be widened and otherwise improved this spring.

This work will be included in tenders which will be called starting April 4, for asphalt plant mix surfacing on the 16.09 miles of Highway 23 from the junction with Highway 24 at the Corner Store to south of Blackie. The entrance road to Blackie from Highway 23, a distance of two miles, will also receive the asphalt plant mix surfacing.

Tenders will be opened April 16, and it is expected that the work will be completed this spring.

Will Participate In Model UN Assembly

Two Vulcan County Central High School students will represent the high school at the Model General Assembly of the United Nations meeting to be held at the Balmoral School in northwest Calgary on Friday and Saturday, April 3 and 4.

The two local representatives are: Robert Dow, a grade XII student from Champion, and Bill Hale, a grade XI student from Vulcan. Robert Dow has been chosen to represent Yemen and will be taking part in the discussions on Resolution number 3. Bill Hale will represent the United Arab Republic and will be taking part in the discussions on Resolution number four.

The four discussion groups will be led by university students. In these discussion groups resolutions may be revised by the delegates.

Four resolutions will be dealt with: (1) That the People's Republic of China be admitted into the United Nations, (2) economic sanctions against the Union of South Africa, (3) condemnation of Portuguese activities in her colonies, (4) exclusion of the USSR from voting in the General Assembly.

Gymkhana Club At High River

On Feb. 29th the Lake McGregor Gymkhana Association, under the direction of Peter Silbernagel, travelled to the John Miller Ranch west of High River to be entertained and educated on horsemanship by Mr. Miller. Mr. Miller started with a colt and finished working with his Quarter Horse Station, Lucky Buzz.

Gerry Going assisted Jack with a colt and his famous Quarter horse, "Holly Jinks."

Mrs. Gina McDougall, who was unable to be there in person, sent some very interesting drawings and written information for those concerned with barrel racing.

The club greatly appreciated Mr. Miller's kindness in supplying his large cutting arena and stock for the interesting afternoon.

Appeal Considered

Equalized Assessment In Town Shows Sharp Rise

Notice has been received by the Town of Vulcan from the Assessment Equalization Board that the town's equalized assessment for 1964 will be $2,074,205. This represents a 44.4% increase over the previous year and inasmuch as the increase in the actual taxable assessment over 1963 only amounts to 1.4% councillors feel that the terrific increase in the equalized assessment is not justified. Although the School Foundation Program tax rate is dropped from 32 mills to 26 mills this year, the net result would be that town taxpayers would be contributing considerably more money this year.

Council decided that an appeal against this action by the Assessment Equalization Board was justified, but decided to take no action until information is available regarding the County of Vulcan's supplementary school requisition.

At the March meeting, town council approved a building permit for the building of a $524,000 addition to the high school. The permit was issued to the County of Vulcan and contractors are Bennett & White.

Council decided to make application for the establishment of a provincial recreation area with Vulcan as its centre.

A plan submitted by the County of Vulcan to employ a local welfare officer for the County, town of Vulcan and villages of Arrowwood, Milo, Lomond, Champion and Carmangay failed to win endorsement. Council felt that such expenditure was not warranted as welfare matters are now handled by the provincial government at no cost to local governments.

A recent influx of city tradesmen led to a decision to check with other towns and see if transient tradesmen's license fees are too low in Vulcan.

A letter from the Chamber of Commerce asking that no control be exercised over local retail businesses except under the Lord's Day Act failed to win support of councillors, who felt that the 4 to 3 vote at the C. of C. meeting could not be construed as representing the opinion of town businessmen. In connection with this matter, the proprietor of the Vulcan Cafe & Grocery agreed to partition his grocery premises from the cafe and observe the same business hours as other grocery stores in town.

Annual Meeting Minor Baseball League On Sunday

Organizations sponsoring teams in the Wheatbelt Minor Baseball League have been reminded by letter from the league president, Ross V. Bertrand of Milo, that the annual meeting of the league will be held at Vulcan in the Legion clubroom on Sunday, April 5, at 2:00 p.m.

The Wheatbelt Minor League encompasses both Little League and Babe Ruth League. Composition of the league, playing dates and election of officers will be the main business at Sunday's meeting. Organizations wishing to sponsor new teams are also invited to have representatives present at the meeting. Ray Wellman of Vulcan is League Commissioner and will be present.

Vulcan Curlers Have Success At Lethbridge 'Spiel

With the curling rink now closed for the season at Vulcan, local rinks have been taking in the wind-up bonspiels at Lethbridge the past couple of weeks with good success.

First the V. Haga rink of Ted Percival, Vernal Haga, Ray Wellman and Neil Dumka took in the Elks Bonspiel and came away with top honors in the second event winning Seaman's Jewellery trophies and flight bags.

Over Easter weekend two Vulcan rinks tried the Open Mixed 'Spiel at Lethbridge of 64 entries and both came away quite successful. The foursome of Ray and June Wellman, Ted and Elinor Percival (Blackie) won the third event while the other entry of Danny and Von Watson with Bud and Thelma Haverly picked up third prize in the first event.

Local News Items

George Hill of Stettler motored here on Friday and was accompanied home by his mother, Mrs. J. M. Hill, who will spend the Easter holidays with her son's family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry LaRoche and three small sons of Calgary were Saturday and Sunday visitors at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. E. LaRoche, Norma and children remained to spend the week here.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Jantzie and small son of Edmonton spent the Easter weekend with relatives and friends here.

Lindy and Lerry Sales of Calgary are spending the holidays with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Sales.

A sequence from the shenanigans which made up the program of the Vulcan Lionettes' recent Charter Night party is shown above. The evolution of mankind through a generation or two seemed to be the theme of the girls and as moderator Jerry Snow described the progress of the subjects from baby stage to the marrying age and beyond, these plateaus were depicted in the flesh by Lionettes. Above, a vicious twist demonstration is shown by Rose Munro in the teen age dress and floor mop hairdo, and Alice Scales and Margaret Hanna in the black shock outfits. From somewhere came the ginrickshaw affair in the background whose rider, Bonnie Hill is hidden from the camera.

Vulcan Recreation Area Is Planned

Investigation is underway by the committee of the Vulcan District Recreation Centre in preparation of the formation of a recreation area in this part of the County. Decision to go ahead with this plan was made following the public meeting Monday, March 23, at which a motion was made from the floor to this effect.

On Thursday, March 26, Centre representatives Gordon Brown, John Wolfe, Boyd McKay and chairman Pat Walker met with George Hummel and C. J. Versluys of Champion and Cyril Rebalkin and Pete Silbernagel of the Milo district to discuss the subject of recreation areas. It is expected that in the future the County will be divided into such areas and by County and town taxation a certain amount of money will be available to properly established areas to assist in their maintenance. The grant to each will depend upon population contained within the boundaries of the areas.

Champion has already set up its recreation area and the County is presently publishing a by-law to this effect. General agreement in the Champion boundaries was found by Vulcan representatives. Milo plans on this matter are uncertain and no immediate steps towards a recreation area are planned. This same situation also exists with regard to the Lomond area. The local Recreation Centre committee is hopeful that this any local action can be taken.

source of revenue plus town participation will be big steps towards the annual costs of operating a community centre should present hopes in this direction materialize. The plan to purchase the Meadowlark curling rink for possible use as a community centre and skating rink is still up in the air pending a land dispute between Calgary city council and other firms involved. A decision will have to be reached at the city level before any local action can be taken.

LADIES AID EASTER TEA

The Ensign Ladies Aid held the annual Easter Tea on Thursday, March 19.

Using the Easter motif Mrs. C. Hansen decorated the tea tables with daffodils and pussy willows as centre pieces and small baskets of candy as place cards, depicting a touch of spring.

Mrs. E. Hansen of Calgary and Mrs. H. Parker of Ensign, honorary members, poured tea and coffee.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. Hansen with Mrs. M. Markert assisting.

Weak-minded citizens, hearing the scare-mongers, are inclined to sigh, "What's the use?" and excuse their every failing by pointing to the awful world they are obliged to live in.

P.F.R.A. WATER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

With 80 percent of the surface water derived from melting snow that runs off the land in the spring of the year, the time is near when farmers and stockmen will be casting anxious eyes toward their dugouts and small dams. The extent to which these structures fill can have a definite bearing on their farm operation for the coming year and with prospects not too bright for a good runoff much of the prairies in 1964, farmers and ranchers should consider every possible opportunity for trapping such runoff that may be available. Opening road ditches and channels so that water can run into the dugouts may prove a help. Small dykes and shallow ditches may also be used to divert water from the farm shelterbelt to the dugout. Water from sloughs can be utilized by being pumped into the dugout using a small pump unit and aluminum or plastic pipe. This should be done before the sloughs become stagnant.

One of the reasons for the founding of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration in 1935, was the unsatisfactory water supply situation that existed on many individual farms throughout the western prairie region at that time. The Federal government of the day recognized that an agricultural program without water was impossible and so this was one of the first programs that P.F.R.A. instituted and has been carried on continuously ever since. This program has ranged from providing engineering and financial assistance to individual farmers for the construction of dugouts, stock watering dams and small irrigation projects, to construction of major storage works such as the multi-million dollar St. Mary Dam on the St. Mary Irrigation Project in southern Alberta, and the South Saskatchewan River Dam which is currently under development in south central Saskatchewan.

To provide storage for local water supplies in individual and neighbor projects, P.F.R.A. has assisted in the construction of over 90,000 water development schemes since the start of the program in 1935. For the most part this work is handled through the field offices which provide invaluable assistance to farmers and stockmen in many ways. Besides supplying inspection services to assure that structures are built to P.F.R.A. specifications, they help the farmer in locating his storage works so that they will trap the maximum runoff and lose a minimum by seepage which can occur in porous subsoils.

Of the 18 field offices in the Prairie Provinces, 10 are located in Saskatchewan. These offices are situated at Melville, Weyburn, Melfort, Moose Jaw, Gravelbourg, Swift Current, Shaunavon, Maple Creek, Biggar and North Battleford. In Manitoba, assistance is available from two offices—one in Brandon serving the southern portion of the province, and the second in Dauphin serving the north. In Alberta there are six offices extending all the way from Peace River, the most northerly of any P.F.R.A. office, to Medicine Hat in the south. The others are located at Fort Macleod, Red Deer, Hanna and Wainwright.

Applications for P.F.R.A. assistance in development of water projects, besides being available at all P.F.R.A. offices, are also obtainable from Municipal and County offices, and from Agricultural Representatives and District Agriculturalists.

The specifications established by P.F.R.A. for construction of various storage works have been designed to provide for maximum efficiency, and thus give the farmer the best return on his dollar.

Dugouts must have a minimum depth of 12 feet, and 14 feet is recommended. Also, the volume of excavation must be not less than 2,500 cubic yards to qualify for assistance. In such cases, P.F.R.A. will pay a portion of the construction costs calculated at the rate of seven cents per cubic yard of excavation to a maximum of $250 per project. Such structures will store up to two acre-feet of water or sufficient to meet the year-round requirements of the average farm family, irrigate two to four acres of garden and shelter-belt, or supply the stockwatering requirements of approximately fifty head of cattle. In the case of stock watering dams, the same rate of assistance applies to earth work as in the case of dugouts, plus 25 cents per cubic yard for riprap and cost of other materials purchased up to a maximum of $300.

In the case of small approved irrigation projects, P.F.R.A. will pay up to $600 of construction costs including earth, rock, concrete and timber materials. However, it must first be firmly established that a dependable water supply is available for the irrigation of not less than five acres. For this reason, the farm dugout is usually not large enough to be considered an adequate source of water for irrigation.

Although financial consideration may be given for pipe used on irrigation systems to deliver water to the irrigable areas, equipment such as pumps and sprinklers does not qualify for payment.

Repairs to projects which have been damaged by floods or other natural causes also qualify for assistance, as do enlargements, improvements and betterments providing these latter three do not bring the total amount paid by P.F.R.A. for any one project to more than the total which would be available for a new project.

In cases where two or more farmers pool their water resources, a greater degree of assistance is available.

COUNTY CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL HI-LITES

With all the publicity about technological change, automation and increasing unemployment, every student in junior or senior high school is concerned about what his career or occupational choice will be. Strangely enough, there are also increasing numbers of adults who have had and will have to make a decision about their occupation. For suddenly, due to automation, their jobs have ceased to be an occupation and another person has entered the unemployment ranks. In our present day search for security, this has affected many lives. When one realizes that every young person entering the work-a-day world for the first time faces the prospect of learning, not one, but two or three different trades in their lifetime, education takes on a new meaning. Education becomes not only a task of learning knowledgeable facts and theories but a task involving wise career choices and good adjustment to our ever-changing society.

Our guidance program, though in its infancy, has many aids for the busy student.

The County School Committee has very generously provided a counselling room where the students may browse and do research on various occupations and institutions of learning. Here the student will find calendars from our two Universities in Alberta, calendars from our Northern and Southern Alberta Institutes of Technology plus calendars and brochures from various Junior Colleges, Business Schools, Agricultural and Vocational Schools. Here also in this room will be found files containing information about careers and occupations. On shelves and posted on the bulletin board are to be found booklets and charts giving advice and information to answer such questions as Should I be a chemist? What of a career on the medical team? How do I become a mechanic? or What are the opportunities in the field of business? Excellent monographs are to be found in the files which give an opportunity for a complete occupational study of any career. These are the things that are available to the student wondering about his career choice.

Assistance is needed to direct and guide the student in his search for an occupation. Every staff member is willing and able to assist each student with a problem. A definite program is planned where each student is interviewed at least once in the school year. For the senior class of Grade 12, who need special assistance in the last year, two interviews are a minimum and every opportunity is afforded them to come in and discuss their plans for the coming year.

Our counselling service has many deficiencies, the greatest being time. But tests are on hand such as the Kuder Preferential test to sort out the interests of the examinee, the Differential Aptitude tests to establish potentials and the Intelligence test to rate ability. The multiple tests, though not conclusive, give the advisers and those who counsel, information which can help assess the value of the student's future goals and desires. At best, it is only an attempt to help the student realize his own abilities and weaknesses and to help him understand and accept himself. No one can tell an individual what he best should do.

We assist the child in getting information on various schools, courses and training programs. We assist the child in interpretation of the information about himself and about the education and occupational opportunities.

We hope that this will help him to develop the ability to solve his own plans and his own decisions.

We ask that parents and guardians help the child to accept his potentials and weaknesses and assist him in his decision. We hope that you will firmly guide him toward good habits of study and conduct. We hope you will develop family will join him in July to make their home.

Fifty friends gathered at the Kirkcaldy Community Hall on Thursday, March 26, to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Doug Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Main and their families. Cards were played during the evening prior to a tasty lunch served by the hostesses. On behalf of their friends in the community Arthur Jones presented a hostess chair to the Wilsons and a pole lamp to the Mains with best wishes in their new homes.

Behind The Grain Back-up

Once again, reports J. K. Edmonds in The Financial Post, the argument rages over whether $20 million should be spent to improve the now-plugged grain-handling facilities on the West Coast and, if so, who should spend the money. In the background: the tie-up in grain exports out of Vancouver has backed up boxcars as far east as Saskatoon.

Elevator companies, both pool and private, are resisting pressure to add to elevator space at Vancouver, for two reasons: Grain-handling facilities, they say, are adequate for normal movement and a heavy investment isn't justified to handle a temporary increase in demand. The $20 million would be better invested in other facilities to make it possible to use existing elevator space more efficiently. What's really wrong, some grain men say, is that Vancouver has no marshaling yards in which cars of wheat arriving at the terminal can be stored.

"Big Brother" Thinks For Us

Albertans can go to bed these nights comforted by the thought that their morals and opinions are carefully protected by a keen eye for propriety.

Latest champion of our thinking is Peter Elliott, chairman of the Alberta liquor control board who has such a high opinion of the morality of Albertans that he refused Seagram Distillers the right to show their world-famous collection of paintings in Edmonton.

In the face of considerable opposition, the paintings will now be permitted here, providing their sponsorship is not ostensibly displayed.

Bully for Mr. Elliott. Not for him to be hoodwinked by those eastern Canadian sharpies as to their reason for wanting to display the paintings of Canada's greatest artists. He knows it's not for art alone, and he's not going to permit us to be duped by such guile.

Mr. Elliott will be a busy man in his witch-hunt to prevent companies from advertising their wares by insidious methods. There's an aquarium in Calgary, a memorial arena in Lethbridge, a meeting-house in Edmonton . . . all popular and enjoyed by Albertans, but their sponsorship is suspect.

This whole insane situation would be cleared up if the government would recognize that advertising by breweries and distilleries does already exist in the province, and legalize the practice.

Of Many Things

SCARE MONGERS

We spend too much on alcohol. We pay more for tobacco than for fine music.

Cosmetics out-sell good non-fiction!

Sex is rampant.

Our dramatic broadcasts are too brutal.

Automation is beginning "a quiet takeover."

Really — are we actually crashing down hill so fast?

Schools have improved several hundred percent since I was a scholar. Teachers have better qualifications. Young people have more knowledge, more poise, more sense than my generation had. Good reading is available on every drug-store newsstand, thanks to paper-backs. Fine music, recorded with almost perfect technical skill, can be purchased very reasonably. Ministers, rabbis and priests have larger congregations than ever before, thanks to television and radio.

The world we live in is a pretty good world. Men and women have more political and economic freedom than ever before in history. Prosperous countries share both money and know-how with backward nations.

No one is forcing them to buy alcohol, or blowing smoke into their lungs. Cosmetics are sold on a take 'em or leave 'em basis. Sex is scarcely an invention of our particular system. Shakespeare wasn't averse to bloodshed in his dramatic efforts. Automation is our best hope for more dignified labor or leisure.

Canada's first subscription library was established at Quebec City in 1779 when a group of officers and merchants set up a 2,000-book library.

United Church Women Convene At Cayley

Grow in Grace was the theme of the second annual meeting of the High River Presbyterian United Church Women held in Wood Memorial Church of Cayley Friday, March 13.

President Mrs. Lorne Frey of High River welcomed Mrs. D. K. McIlroy, conference president of United Church Women, Rev. O. Seward of Claresholm and the ladies.

Mrs. L. Frey gave her president's report and Mrs. F. Hartwick moved a vote of appreciation to Mrs. Frey for accomplishing so much during the year.

Mrs. L. V. Bassett gave the financial report which showed all expenses met. The budget for 1964 in $6,186 for M and M allocation, $150 for conference expenses and $300 for presbytery expenses making a total of $6,636.

Memorial service was conducted by Miss K. Thomas and Mrs. H. Meadows of Blackie.

Mrs. Meadows chose as the theme Have You Found Peace? Flowers were placed in memory of 21 members who had passed away.

After lunch served in the IOOF Hall the afternoon devotion was given by Mrs. A. Wannamaker and Mrs. L. Mouser of Claresholm U.C.W.

Mrs. Roy Henderson of High River ably introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. D. K. McIlroy of Edmonton.

The allocation for 1963 was met and she was glad to report more gifts had made it possible for three major projects to be completed, a nurse's residence at Seoul, Korea; the Fisher's Bay Project and $25,000 for illiteracy in the world.

The main functions of a U.C.W. group should be to help others, be humble and go with others, not just those we like to be with. If you are not helping those near you who need help, you are not doing your part.

Many women are not using their talents or are using them unwisely. A new rule might be five minutes for talk and thirty minutes for action.

Can you say in your group you are sisters of the world? How many really know what rules are in the Bible for living as a Christian? The new curriculum gives new opportunity.

A letter was read stating it is permissible for officers to be elected for a third time. Claresholm U.C.W. extended an invitation for a fall workshop.

Rev. O. Seward explained the boundaries of presbytery may be extended to form the Foothills Presbytery and if so the U.C.W. Presbytery would be extended to correspond.

Should the Alberta Presbytery re-organize the presbytery bounds forming the new Foothills Presbytery, the High River Presbytery U.C.W. would recommend the new executive be the duly-elected officers of the High River Presbytery U.C.W., with added representation from the additional charges.

The suggested additions would be added as regional vice-president and co-chairmen of committees.

Rev. O. Seward conducted the installation service for the following officers.

President: Mrs. Lorne Frey, High River; vice-presidents: Mrs. F. G. Hartwick, High River; Mrs. C. L. Alexander, Cayley; Mrs. Garry Ness, Vulcan; Mrs. M. Houlden, Cayley.

Recording secretary: Mrs. Alex Humphrey, High River; corresponding secretary: Mrs. Mary Bailey, Okotoks; treasurer: Mrs. L. B. Bassett, Claresholm.

FACTS ABOUT

DOOR-TO-DOOR SELLING

Ethical door-to-door salesmen will:

1. Carry some form of personal identification, and company identification as well as Provincial and Municipal Licences.
2. Have manufacturer's literature on the product being offered.
3. Have in their possession, and be willing to show — samples of merchandise being offered, which will carry manufacturer's name.
4. Never high-pressure you into buying something you do not want or need.
5. Never demand full payment of merchandise until it is delivered to your home, nor will they accept money without issuing a receipt.
6. Will accept "no" courteously, and not become abusive.
7. Will likely call back, after giving you a chance to check.
8. Will note on contract — date of delivery of order.

Customers Should Check:

1. The salesman's credentials. These should be: (a) A letter of authorization from the manufacturer or distributor. (b) Provincial Licence, and is some municipalities, a Municipal Licence.
2. Examine the product carefully. Look for the name of the manufacturer, which should be affixed to the article.
3. Read the catalogues and promotional literature carefully, and be skeptical of the salesman who does not carry samples of his wares, but uses coloured illustrations only.
4. Question the salesman about all guarantees on the products. Be certain that the guarantee information tallies with that stated on the promotional literature, and contracts, before you sign. If the article may require service, find out where is the nearest Service Depot. Check on it, if possible.

5. Be sure to read and thoroughly understand any contract you are asked to sign before you sign it. Read all the small print. The contract may state, "No refunds, no cancellations, no goods left on approval". Remember — get and keep a copy of any contract you sign, for future reference, and be sure it states a company address, and the salesman's address. (Note car licence number).

6. If in doubt, take time to check. If the offer will stand investigation, the salesman will return. If not, he will not bother you again.

Remember, any legitimate salesman will stand and welcome investigation.

Teaching the teacher

EXPERTS TELL US that almost 90% of all automobile accidents are directly attributable to human failures of one kind or another.

Modern technology has succeeded in making today's cars and roads about as safe as can be. It is time for drivers to catch up—through driver safety training. (Only this type of training will teach young drivers the kind of "safety-thinking" so essential to safe driving.) But training requires teachers, and teachers themselves must first be taught.

That's why the automobile insurance business, as a part of its national program of promoting safety education for the young drivers, pays the costs of the annual Driver Training Education Program conducted by the Canadian Highway Safety Council for teachers in many parts of Canada.

by Lawrence E. Kindt, M.P.

Last week parliament suffered a sudden and tragic loss in the untimely (only 46) death of Jack Garland, Minister of National Revenue. Mr. Garland who has represented North Bay since 1949 was certainly one of the three or four most popular members in the House of Commons — I doubt if he had an enemy in the world. There is little doubt that Mr. Garland literally died in the performance of his duties as he was an extremely hard working and conscientious minister; the strain of office undoubtedly was one of the principal causes of his fatal heart attack. These tragedies are made to seem very real when one has been talking to the person in question only an hour before the fatal event. In Mr. Garland's death a great loss has been suffered by his family, his government, parliament, his constituency and the country at large.

Since there was so little in Mr. Gordon's recent budget, everyone around Parliament Hill is wondering why the government introduced this budget at such an early date (the earliest on record). Speculation is that the government wished to have the budget for the coming year presented to parliament before the Federal-Provincial conference at the end of this month so that any financial demands by the provinces could be forestalled. The government would be in a position to tell the provinces that it had made up its budget for the coming year and that there was no more money available for them.

From time to time the public indeed have good cause to question some of the strange goings on in parliament. Only two weeks before the budget was introduced, the government flatly turned down an opposition motion to extend Family Allowances to students aged 16 and 17 who are still attending school. Only two weeks later, the government apparently changed its mind as this item was perhaps the principal item in the budget. The other main item in the budget is that part-time students will be allowed to deduct tuition fees in computing income for tax purposes.

The biggest disappointment in the budget was the fact that the government did not see fit to remove the 11% tax on housing and building materials.

For some time Mr. Hays (Minister of Agriculture) has been under severe criticism in the commons for his handling of the Department of Agriculture and in particular for not giving his full time to the job. On Feb. 3rd last, the government passed an Order in Council (which was not made public) transferring a large number of Mr. Hays' duties to the Minister of Forestry, Mr. Sauve. Mr. Sauve is a Montreal lawyer. These duties included the Farm Credit Corporation, ARDA, PFRA, and a number of other duties. Then for some reason or other on Feb. 20, another Order in Council was passed transferring all of these duties (except ARDA) back to Mr. Hays. This matter was recently brought to light in parliament and a great deal of questioning resulted. Finally, the Prime Minister announced that agricultural affairs in Canada would now be run by three ministers, the latest addition being the Honourable Mr. Sharpe, the Minister of Trade and Commerce, a Toronto business man. At the moment no one seems to know who is boss. Most of us hope that it won't be a case of "too many cooks spoiling the broth."

FAMILY CAMPAIGN

The family campaign at the Evangelical Free Church started during the Sunday school hour with Uncle Joy producing some interesting and mystical objects from his Miracle Box and introducing Cousin Willie. Mr. Cummings' clever ventriloquism makes this young fellow so real that adults are captivated and youngsters are so sure he is a live little boy that one of them brought some cookies for him. Rev. Joy Cummins comes from Turlock, Calif., and is the home missions evangelist for the denomination.

His message on Easter Sunday morning was on the fact of the resurrection, its power and its comfort. In the evening he spoke on Samson as a picture of a sleeping Christian who is shorn of the locks of love, faith, prayer and so forth.

Alberta farmers should not attempt to acquire seed stocks of Bolley flax for sowing in 1964. This new variety is urgently needed by farmers in eastern Saskatchewan and Manitoba to replace Marine which is now susceptible to a new flax rust known as Race 300.

O. G. Bratvold, Supervisor of Alberta's Crop Improvement Service, says there is absolutely no need for growers in the province to change from Redwood or Raja to Bolley. Except for being resistant to Race 300, Bolley is similar to Marine which only accounted for 6 1/2 per cent of our flax acreages last year. According to Mr. Bratvold, Redwood and Raja are both excellent varieties which are resistant to Race 300. Raja is an earlier variety than Redwood but has a somewhat lower yield.

Rust control in Alberta's low relative humidity is quite easy providing flax is never sown on flax stubble. This crop only becomes infected by rust spores
